Another mine disaster is added to the long list of similar accidents in the Wilkesbarre region, and is one more cause for more stringent regulations for the safety of the underground toilers.

"LET reporters report all they please and we'll be careful what we say," was the good advice given by Dr. Booth to and denounced James Campbell, a gen the New York Presbytery, and which tleman of standing and good reputation we commend to the prayerful consideration of the Hon. Grover Cleveland.

Review's article says: "When foreign markets shall have become a necessity for us, we shall not be found unable to make any change in our fiscal, tariff or industrial systems that may be required to meet the emergency. Meanwhile, our British cotemporaries should not emit to state the important fact that, in certain important lines, in which our production has outrun our consumption, we are already exporting manufactured ware of iron and steel and that a very considerable quantity of American wares in these lines is actually taken by Great Britain at the presen lime. Evidently, if our transatlantic neighbors are depending upon our protective system to hamper us hopelessly in the future, they are putting their tectionist nation, not too much protect ionist, but just enough protectionist to tionist, but just enough protectionist to suit any and every emergency."

This is true, and in the near future we will have an American merchant fleet to carry our surpluses to other nations, where we will be able to compete in "the markets of the world," but in the meantime we intend to maintain the policy of Protection in order to keep out the products of pauper labor while we are winning for the Republic a position as the greatest manufacturing and comical country on the globe.
